

General conditions for the use of the site

By browsing the site www.horentek.it, the user declares to know, understand and accept the "General conditions for the use of the site" set out below.

Browsing the aforementioned site and / or requesting registration in any restricted access sections on the site imply express acceptance of the "General conditions for the use of the site".

1. Property rights All rights of any nature relating to all the elements that can be found on the site, such as information, logos, texts, images, and any other element included in this site are exclusively reserved to HORENTEK Srl.

2. Content of the site and updates HORENTEK undertakes to insert updated information on the site and reserves the right to modify or delete them at any time.

3. Links and hypertext The site may contain links to other Internet sites. HORENTEK offers links to facilitate the search, directing the user to sites that can provide complementary information. It is forbidden to create a hyperlink to this site without the explicit consent of HORENTEK.

4. Changes to the general conditions of use of the site HORENTEK reserves the right to modify and update access to the site and the general conditions of use of the same at any time. Any changes to the general conditions of use of the site are applicable from its appearance. Changes and updates are binding for the user, who must therefore always refer to this document to check the general conditions of use of the site in force.

°